New care home set for approval

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A CARE home for the elderly looks set to close and be replaced by a new one within two years, despite a petition signed by 4,000 people.

The petition was compiled by Haverhill Town Council last year, opposing moves to close or privatise the 35-bed Place Court home in Camps Road.

Suffolk County Council announced on Monday its plan for the home as part of a £60 million investment in its residential care homes and wellbeing centres, due to be considered by cabinet at its meeting next Tuesday.

Under the plan all of the county's existing 16 residential homes and eight community wellbeing centres would be replaced by 10 new purpose-built homes and wellbeing centres, to be run by private company Care UK.

If the plans are approved, Place Court would be replaced by a new purpose-built residential home and wellbeing centre on the site of the former Chalkstone Middle School in Millfields Way, Haverhill.

Voting a tremendous gift we should all use

ON November 15, for the first time you will be able to vote for your local Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC). This is a new role and the job of the PCC will be to oversee the police and ensure they prioritise what matters to you.

Each candidate will have different ideas, skills and experience to bring to the role.

If you are registered to vote, and eligible to vote, you can either vote in person at a polling station, by post (I vote by post as it is the most convenient for me) or by proxy (allowing someone you trust to vote on your behalf). In this election you can vote for your first and second preference in order of who you want to be elected.

The media are saying this election is going to be a very low turnout. I take the view that voting is a tremendous gift. Believe it or not, people just like you and me in other countries actually fight and even die for this right (take the Arab Spring for example); a right that so many in democratic nations take for

MAYOR'S VIEW

by Cllr Pat Hanlon, mayor of Haverhill granted.

People should vote because they can, if not then one day they may wake up in a country where they can't. It can (and has) happened!

With 60% turnout (40% not voting) in General Elections, 30% turnout (70% not voting) in Local Elections and only 25% in Haverhill South, we have a lot to do.

I had to wait until I was 21 before I could vote and have voted in every election since then, even local elections. One of the reasons I vote is that it affects me in everything I do: health, from birth to death (National Health Service), walking to school along the footpaths (education and local councils), going to work, by car (employment rights, health and safety, paying taxes and maintaining the roads), living in a house/flat (Council Tax), keeping me safe from crime (police), retirement (government pension) and lastly cemeteries (local council).

These are just a few of the things that affect us when we vote, but I do hope pointing them out will encourage a few more people to vote at all our elections.

As your mayor, I have been representing you at the following events since my last column:

- Summer Read Challenge Presentation, Haverhill Library.
 - Best of Haverhill, Days Inn.
 - Old Independent Church 350th Anniversary.
 - Hadleigh Town Council Civic Service, Hadleigh.
 - U3A Open Day, Arts Centre.

 - Jeans for Genes Day, Coupsals Pre-School.
 - Sudbury Town Council, Civic Service, Sudbury.

- Forthcoming events include:
- Tomorrow - Haverhill Volunteer Centre AGM, Arts Centre, 12.30-2pm.

For my next trick: ringmaster Atilla Endresz with the pupils.

Thrill for pupils as circus ringmaster arrives

TWO children from a travelling circus attended a primary school while it was in town and brought along their ringmaster to meet its pupils.

Pupils in Year 2 at Place Farm Primary Academy in Haverhill had a fantastic afternoon when Atilla Endresz, the ring master from John Lawson's Circus, paid them a visit.

Atilla spent two hours with the class in the afternoon and was full of information, and passion, about the circus and the life of the circus.

He talked through the way his children were educated, by visiting schools in each town while they toured and in their home school when they are at home in the winter months. He also shared lots of stories about his experience in this circus and others around the world.

The pupils were also wowed with a practical demonstration of his juggling and whip cracking skills.

Pupils were full of enthusiasm for the visitor and when he left they were already considering how they might learn to juggle.

Head of School, Delyth Reed, said: "It's wonderful to use the local resources and it has been a joy to have to have the children from the circus learning with us."

"We knew the children were arriving as it was pre-arranged, but having Atilla in for the visit was a wonderful way to bring the learning alive."

Tots join in fun for denim day

TINY tots went along to their playgroup decked out in their best denim.

Stepping Stones pre-school group in Haverhill took part in the Jeans for Genes event and raised £30 for the charity.

They had a visit from Haverhill Town Mayor Pat Hanlon, who chose Harriet Solt as the winner for wearing the most denim in the afternoon session, with Maddie Best the winner in the morning.

The group meets at Couplars Primary School and has a waiting list for places on (01440) 761018.

Council focus is on 'best possible care'

Construction of the new home would begin in June, with the new home opening 12 months later, and Place Court closing in July 2014.

Wamil Court in Mildenhall would also be replaced by a new home on the site of the former Great Heath Primary School in St John's Close, Mildenhall. Work would start next April, with the new home opening in April 2014 and Wamil Court would close in May 2014.

A statement issued by the council said all permanent members of staff would transfer to Care UK on their current terms and conditions.

New homes, replacing ones built in the 1960s, would have bigger rooms, en-suite facilities and access to safe outside garden spaces, as well as increasing the number of specialist dementia beds to 680, with 370 contracted directly to the county council.

Cllr Colin Noble, cabinet member for health and adult care said: "Our commitment and focus to ensure we get the best possible care and facilities for Suffolk people, remains as strong as ever.

"By transferring our care homes and wellbeing centres to Care UK we will attract a significant amount of investment that otherwise would simply not be available. The most vulnerable in society deserve the very best we can provide them – this deal represents that.

"Before the cabinet meets I will have fulfilled the commitment I made that I would visit each of the care homes to discuss the proposals with residents and their relatives face to face.

"It has been extremely helpful to hear first hand the views of those in our homes – a lot have been positives, which is extremely encouraging. However, there were some concerns and we will continue to work hard to ensure that everyone is reassured about how the proposed changes will be managed."

Will Austin, Haverhill town clerk, said: "The town council is reassured that the new facility will be in Haverhill, but we will want to see further details such as the number of beds, the services to be offered, and the quality standards to be adopted by Care UK.

"The new home needs to cater for a rapidly increasing and ageing population."

Jail term for death of boy and granddad

A DRIVER whose careless driving caused the deaths of a 13-year-old boy and his grandfather has been sentenced to six months in prison.

Paul Bell, of North Crescent, Steeple Bumpstead, appeared at Cambridge Crown Court last Friday following the collision on September 18 last year which resulted in the deaths of schoolboy Josh Bysouth and 66-year-old Michael Kidd on the A1307 near Linton.

The court was packed with members of Josh and Michael's family. They both lived at Stanleys Farm Road, Saffron Walden.

The court heard Bell, who was driving a silver Audi A3, overtook another car on the dual carriageway towards Cambridge at a speed of about 90mph.

He then smashed into Mr Kidd's door as their blue Hyundai Getz tried to cross the carriageway to turn right – on a road described by prosecutor Caroline Allison as "notorious" and dotted with shrines from previous fatalities.

She said: "Michael was driving the car and in his front passenger seat was Josh, his 13-year-old grandson. Both sadly died at the scene from the injuries sustained."

She also revealed that Bell's car was fitted with a digital enhancement system, giving it increased acceleration power, although the defendant said it was fitted for fuel efficiency.

Bell was left with severe injuries from the crash, which threw his vehicle on to the opposite carriageway and sent Mr Kidd's skidding backward.

Bell sustained fractures to his shoulder and vertebrae and internal injuries.

Reading out family statements, Miss Allison told the court Tracy Bysouth described her son Josh as having a "big smile" and loving sport, especially the javelin, while her father Michael was "a rock" for the family.

Andrew Copeland, mitigating, said some of the witnesses had said Michael pulled out too soon, but he admitted his 48-year-old client – who spent much of the hearing with his head in his hands – took full responsibility for his actions. He had pleaded guilty at an earlier hearing.

He said: "When Mr Bell first walked into my office his first words to me were: 'Just tell me what I am going to get for killing two people?'"

Sentencing Bell for two counts of death by careless driving, Judge Gareth Hawkesworth, who also disqualified the defendant from driving for two years, said: "The overwhelming cause of this tragedy was your speed. This was no moment of inattention from you.

"In truth no sentence I can legally pass can bring back the two victims – one of whom had his whole life ahead of him."

After the hearing, Insp Bob Turner, of the collision investigation unit, added: "Speed was clearly the cause here but it also shows that drivers have to pay attention constantly on our roads."

■ The memory of 13-year-old Josh Bysouth continues to live on in a fundraising campaign which is nearing its target.

At the end of last year, Josh's schoolmates at Saffron Walden County High School began to raise money with the help of local businesses, residents and community groups for Medical Detection Dogs – a charity which trains puppies before giving them to people with certain health conditions, such as serious diabetes cases.

The youngsters set the target of £10,000 and adopted a puppy called Josh in their friend's honour.

And last Friday, an assembly was held at the school where it was revealed that £8,316 has already been collected, and charity workers from Medical Detection Dogs were on hand with 6-month-old Josh to thank everyone for their efforts to date.

Army pals Michael and Peter reunited

TWO old Army pals had plenty of catching up to do when they met for the first time in 52 years.

Michael Barker, 73, had not seen Peter Mayes since they parted on Ipswich Station in 1960, after training as drivers together during their national service and then serving in Germany on NATO training exercises.

An appeal by Michael in the Haverhill Weekly News led to Peter getting in touch, and the pair finally met up at Peter's home in Ash Grove, Haverhill, last Friday.

Michael, who lives in Framlingham, said: "I am so appreciative of the paper's help, it was beyond my wildest dreams."

"My son phoned to say the story was in the paper and by 10 to seven Peter's wife had called me. I was just lost for words. I am so pleased to find him again after all these years. We both reminded each other of things we had forgotten about."

"When we pulled up outside his house I could see he was greyer and had put a bit of weight on, but there were still features in his face I remembered."

Peter added: "We went over all the old details of what we got up to then."

"I did not expect to see him again. There were about 40 to 50 of us and it would be very rare to see any of them."

"We are going to get together again and go out for a meal. I think we will stay in touch now."

Knife threat man released under community order

A MAN who grabbed a girl at knife-point has avoided jail.

Derek Bowering, 42, who brandished a knife in a public place twice on the same day, was given a two-year community order at Ipswich Crown Court.

Bowering has already served eight months in custody awaiting sentencing, which Judge John Devaux said was the equivalent of a 16-month sentence.

At an earlier hearing Bowering, of Abbotts Road, Haverhill, pleaded guilty to being in possession of a kitchen knife in Chilton Street, Clare, and Chapel Drive, Haverhill, on January 31. He also admitted false imprisonment in Chilton Street, Clare, on the same date.

The court previously heard Bowering, who has learning disabilities, brandished the knife at the home of a woman in Clare, and later grabbed a 13-year-old girl walking home from school in Haverhill and held a knife to her throat.

Judge Devaux told Bowering an action plan to help him would begin when he was released. A restraining order was also granted, forbidding Bowering to contact his victims.

Antique furniture taken in burglary

VALUABLE antique furniture and musical instruments were stolen from a village home.

Police are appealing for information about the burglary at a house in Stansfield Road, Poslingford, near Clare. Offenders got in by smashing a kitchen window of the property between 4.30pm on Sunday, September 30 and 7.10am on Monday, October 8.

A number of valuable items were stolen, including an antique chest, a wall mounted cupboard, a chair, two church pew heads, a backgammon set, various earrings, a jewellery box, an oil painting, a watch, a keyboard, a Fairclough guitar, a Tanglewood electro-acoustic bass, three Aria SB bass guitars and a Warwick amplifier.

Mum to make complaint over wait for ambulance

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MUM whose teenage son may never walk again after breaking his neck in a free running accident plans to make a complaint about the time it took for an ambulance to arrive.

Callum Jefferson, 16, has been in Addenbrooke's Hospital since his accident on Saturday, September 15 and is awaiting transfer to Stoke Mandeville.

His anxious mum Mandy and girlfriend Sian North, 16, have been at his bedside since the accident in Haverhill at around 7.30pm.

Mandy, of Colbeck Road, Haverhill, said Callum's arms and legs are completely paralysed at present and doctors are not yet able to say whether he will be able to walk again.

As well as wanting to warn other free runners about the potential danger of their sport, Mandy said she was upset that he had to wait so long for an ambulance to arrive.

She said: "He has been free running for three years and had not had any accidents before. Although it is an extreme sport, he wanted to be in a safe environment so he was running up the oak tree in the grounds of the library.

"He lost his footing before he went into the back flip and fell awkwardly. He was only about four or five feet off the ground, but he broke his neck and did some spinal damage.

"He is paralysed from the chest down and has no use of his fingers at present. They have fixed his neck with a metal plate and a bone graft. Obviously we are hoping that the spinal cord will mend itself, but there is no guarantee of that.

"What concerned me was that there was no ambulance or paramedic there for over an hour and they did not even stay on the line to tell the kids who were with him what to do.

"I got down there after about five minutes. The police station was shut and there were four or five 999 calls. An emergency doctor came from the health centre and stayed with Callum.

"I cannot believe that in a town the size of Haverhill you cannot get an emergency ambulance sooner than that.

"He had serious injuries, which could have been made even worse if he was moved.

"We are going to complain to the ambulance service to try to stop this happening to anyone else."

A spokesman for the East of England

Ambulance Service said: "The call was originally graded as not critical because the boy was fully alert and breathing normally with no serious symptoms so it was subject to a 30-minute response target.

"However, as soon as we got another call to say his condition had changed and he was having difficulties breathing we arrived within 10 minutes.

"We fell slightly short of the original 30-minute target as occasionally there may be times when we can't meet a non-emergency target, which this was initially graded as, due to a high number of more seriously graded calls. But as soon as we were made aware of the developing seriousness we dispatched an ambulance immediately.

"Unless the caller can be guided in giving basic life-saving support our call handlers are required to deal with further calls coming through from other patients."

U3A Haverhill: A membership enrolment and open day was held on September 25.

Members and visitors to the Open Day were impressed with the many and varied interests pursued by U3A Haverhill members in their chosen Activity Groups. Each of the 40 or so groups had allocated space and representatives presented their activities enthusiastically. Music was provided by the folk group and the popular singing for pleasure group. Photographs were projected on the big screen and the art groups displayed colourful examples of the skills of their members. Haverhill Mayor Pat Hanlon had been invited and spent much of his time finding out in some detail how about 350 of Haverhill's more senior residents enjoy what U3A has to offer.

Membership is expected to increase further as the monthly lecture programme for the next year will attract many who appreciate interesting and stimulating subject matter delivered by competent speakers.

The committee wishes to thank group leaders for their invaluable help to make this open day an enjoyable and successful event.

The subject of the next monthly talk is Freelance Magazine Journalism, by Maureen Moody, at the Arts Centre, starting at 10.30am on October 30.

She had many pictures on show of the most beautiful places in these islands, ending with a few days in New Orleans. She told us about the jazz and what had been done to make sure the city wasn't flooded again. Vote of thanks, Mrs Loveday.

Some leisure events have been arranged – a shopping trip to Ipswich and a visit to Scotsdales open evening.

The Christmas dinner will be at the Golf Club on December 7 and menus were handed around for members to choose their meals. Everyone is looking forward to this.

At the next handicraft meeting Christmas wreaths will be made. A handicraft member brought along a sample of the Christmas cracker (made at the last meeting). It was very pretty.

A NEW business advice group is being launched in Haverhill this week.

Frustration with the lack of local help and guidance for those trying to start or develop a small business has prompted the formation of the Rise Business Development Circle.

The business training, help and support organisation, founded by Luanne Hill and Liz Lyon, has already started in Cambridge.

The women were due to run a taster session at the Menta Offices in Hollands Road today to show the participants how a support group like Rise can help them expand their businesses.

Rise will meet once a month and will cover all aspects of starting and running a company.

Events will include presentations on everything from promoting a product or service, setting short and long-term business goals to accounts and financial planning. The aim is for participants to come away with clear objectives for their businesses.

At the meeting on September 20 chair of Linton parish council, Roger Hickford, advised that the council's offer of £16,000 per acre for 6.24 acres in Back Road, planned for allotments and recreational use, had been refused. Councillors and allotment association members were again asked to report on any other land for purchase or lease which may be suitable for allotments. Mr Hickford is discussing compulsory purchase possibilities with the district council.

"South Cambs are to start major building, and we are the first," said Mr Hickford. Outline plans have been approved to build four general purpose council houses on the site of Chalklands garages. Work may start on the foundations as early as March.

Traffic was again diverted through Linton after another accident on the A1307. Ms Cornell said this resulted in people getting lost in Linton as traffic driving along Back Road hadn't a clue where to go next. It was agreed to press the Highways Department for road signs from the one-way system to Cambridge and Haverhill.

As district councillor, Mr Hickford advised that he had informed the district council that no lease had yet been signed with Linton Action for Youth for the drop-in centre on the recreation ground. District council grant funding is being held back until the lease has been agreed.

Linton Granta Football Club will be granted a 10-year lease to facilitate their application for a grant for the proposed pavilion extension. Brian Manley said the club hoped to dispose of the storage containers when the extension is complete.

Councillors were not impressed with the district council's assessment of recreation provision in the village. Allotments marked on the plan are not village allotments – neither the village green nor the open space at Paynes Meadow are marked and cricket and football cannot be played at the same time, creating a problem in the cross-over season.

CGM denies damaging the rowan and lime trees in the cemetery. Councillors agreed to seek an opinion from a qualified arboriculturalist.

A complaint about the overgrown state of Hogs Holme field in the Pocket Park was noted. The clerk advised that the area was only cut once a year and the work would soon be undertaken.

Although councillors are not keen to install additional dog bins, a new bin will be placed by the Cathodeon site in Horseheath Road.

Flag flies proudly after 40-year gap

A UNION Flag is proudly flying from a church tower for the first time in 40 years.

Building on the success and popularity of the flag display in Haverhill High Street this summer, St Mary's Church Haverhill and Haverhill Town Council joined forces to reinstate a flagpole on the church. It is believed to be some 40 years since a flag was last seen flying over the building. The pole was this week and a formal flag-raising ceremony is to be arranged.

Laptop stolen after burglar sneaks in

A LAPTOP was stolen by thieves who entered a property through insecure rear patio doors.

The black Advent laptop computer was taken from Cambridge Way, Haverhill, between 5.30pm on Tuesday, October 2 and 8.30am on Saturday, October 6.

Police would like to hear from anyone who was in the area at the time, who saw anything suspicious or who knows the name of the offender or offenders. If you have information, contact Suffolk Police on 101.

Pair in bid to help businesses

are designed to fit in with the busy day of an entrepreneur.

Luanne and Liz have more than 30 years' business experience between them and they see this new venture as a way of encouraging others to be as successful.

They said: "Most small businesses fail because of inexperience. Rise provides the kind of training, knowledge and support that the small business owner needs right now – at a minimal cost."

Green team: the bingo members at Burton End School during a fun event which raised more than £170.

Numbers come up for fundraisers

IT WAS 'eyes down' at a primary school for a fun bingo evening which raised more than £170 for school funds.

Friends of Burton End School (FOBES) arranged the prize bingo evening and more than 60 staff, parents, carers, pupils and friends braved a wet and blustery night to enjoy the fun.

The hidden talents of Sarah Halls, honorary bingo caller for the evening, enlivened the family fun.

Chair of FOBES, Emma Gerbino, said: "Parents, carers, staff and Friends of Burton End School endeavour to raise as much as possible to support the first-class education offered to our children.

"With budget constraints and increasing demands on our resources, every penny we can raise goes directly to improving our school.

"Our school is a hub for our community and events like this bring us closer together."

Pair sought after theft of clothes

TWO men were seen in a High Street shop just before items of clothing were stolen. The theft happened from the Peacocks store in Haverhill at around 2.30pm on Thursday, October 4.

Police would like to trace two men who were seen in the shop shortly before the theft was discovered. Both are described as white and in their early 50s. One is described as around 5ft 5in tall, of stocky build, with short fair hair and wearing a blue/black and grey striped jumper, blue jeans and black shoes. The other man was wearing a black and white striped jumper.

Anyone with information about this theft or the two men is asked to contact Suffolk Police on 101.

High Street ban hitting drivers

MORE than 50 drivers have found themselves facing fines as police continue to clamp down on those flouting the law in Haverhill.

Officers have so far held three 'days of action' to stop drivers entering Haverhill High Street illegally between 10am and 4pm or parking on the pavement.

On the first day of the campaign last Monday, many drivers decided against driving into the street when they saw police stopping every vehicle attempting to enter and turning away those who were not entitled to.

On the second day of the campaign last week, a total of 19 tickets were given out over a two-hour period. Of these, nine were for parking illegally, one for causing an unnecessary obstruction by parking on the pavement, two for parking without displaying a blue badge properly and seven for driving into the street without a legitimate reason.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

On Tuesday, a team of four officers were enforcing traffic regulations in the street for four hours and issued a total of 33 tickets.

Of these, eight were for parking offences and 25 for entering the street without entitlement. A fourth day of action will take place with uniformed officers issuing tickets to offenders, followed by future monitoring patrols by officers in plain clothes.

PC Richard Ackroyd of Haverhill Police said: "Generally, everyone was polite and members of the public walking by were happy to see us.

"Apart from the days of action there will also be patrols going on throughout the week, with people receiving tickets."

Tackling illegal parking in the High Street was identified as a police priority at a recent public meeting, even though the town's sector commander Inspector Peter Ferrie felt his officers could be better occupied elsewhere.

He felt only a complete traffic ban would stop motorists breaking the law, but some at the meeting called for clamping or towing offending vehicles.

Training boost: for pupils at Castle Manor Academy. CP

Academy joins rugby project

PUPILS at an academy are celebrating success for their rugby coaching after being selected to join an innovative new programme called the All Schools Project.

Castle Manor Academy in Haverhill has gained recognition from the Rugby Football Union as one of only a few selected schools across the country invited to join the project.

The All Schools Project is funded by a £500,000 investment from Comic Relief and aims to instil the RFU core values of teamwork, respect, enjoyment, discipline and sportsmanship.

The three-year scheme begins this year with an initial investment of £7,500 towards providing an RFU coach to work alongside the PE team in delivering rugby to students and pupils across the partnership of schools.

There is also an investment of £2,500 will be used to purchase balls, tackle shields and other training aids.

There is also an opportunity to design their own kit, via a workshop with the team that designed the Canterbury kit.

The set of 20 kits will be designed, manufactured and eventually presented to students at half-time during the England versus Italy Six Nations match at Twickenham in March.

In following years the coaching skills will be extended through the PE team to enable a wider audience to benefit from the scheme.

The scheme is a boost to the burgeoning love of rugby for youngsters at Castle Manor Academy, who are already being trained by ex-Scottish international Graham Ellis who is now the PE teacher.

He said: "We already have five or six teams of all ages, for both boys and girls of all abilities.

"This will be a real boost and means students can receive even more training and develop a deeper passion for the sport.

"We believe the core values of rugby play an integral part to education and form an essential basis in sport, education and life."

Partnership principal,
Madeleine Vigar, said:
"Appointing an ex-international rugby player to our PE team was an excellent way of raising the profile of sport within our partnership and is reflected throughout the extremely capable and passionate team."

Council share is frozen again

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A COUNTY council is to freeze its share of council tax bills for the third successive year.

Suffolk County Council agreed not to increase bills from next April, following an announcement by the Government that it will extend the grant it gives to local authorities to help keep council tax down.

Council leader Cllr Mark
Bee confirmed that Suffolk County Council will not ask residents to pay any more for local services next year.

He said: "The financial climate we're in means people throughout Suffolk are wrestling with their household budgets to make ends meet.

"It's therefore our moral and professional duty to do everything we can to keep delivering quality public services without asking people for more money, however hard that is to achieve.

"I'm delighted that this additional support from the Government means that we can freeze council tax for a third year and help the hard working people of Suffolk during these difficult financial times.

"Freezing council tax is not without its consequences.

"With increasing costs
and demand for services,
we're going to have to work even harder to ensure the front line services that people rely on do not suffer.
I'm making a commitment that we'll do everything we can to protect those services.

"We must also make sure that we continue to deliver on our key priorities, including raising school attainment, creating economic growth,
protecting vulnerable people and ensuring everyone in Suffolk has access to broadband.

"I'm not saying this is going to be easy but I'm confident that the council's political direction and dedicated staff will ensure the right decisions are made for Suffolk."

This year, the council voted to freeze council tax bills, saving a total of £26 million in the process.

The 2012/13 budget is the first stage of a two-year plan to save £50 million from the £1 billion annual budget the county council is responsible for.

PLAY SAFE

Be pampered and help fund

A CHANCE for ladies to be pampered and help raise money for charity is on offer at a children's play centre. The event runs from 7-9.30pm, is free to enter and the first 50 ladies get a free glass of wine.

Car damaged in vandalism

THE bonnet and side of a parked car were scratched. Police in Haverhill are appealing for information after the car was damaged on Rye Court between 7am and 9am on Wednesday, October 3. Calls can be made to PC Robert Burton on 101, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Home raided

A PHONE and computer games were stolen from a home where a window was forced to get in. Police are appealing for information about the break-in at Bellings Road, Haverhill, between 6pm on Friday, September 28 and midnight on Wednesday, October 3. A Samsung Galaxy mobile phone and a Playstation 3 with two games were stolen. Calls can be made to Sgt Sarah Bartley on 101, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Housing plan

AN outline planning application to build seven new homes at a former pumping station has been received. The application for Lower Road, Hundon, has been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Helping out: deputy head teacher Madeline Vosper with some of the Year 6 pupils.

Pupils learn value of harvest produce

HARVEST gifts were piled high ready for donation to a food bank.

Deputy town mayor Cllr Roger Andre attended the harvest celebration at Burton End Community Primary School where harvest gifts collected by parents, pupils and staff were given to Haverhill Food Bank.

He and deputy head teacher Madeline Vosper saw the 'Giving Tree' where the huge stack of produce to be passed to the Foodbank was kept.

At their harvest event, pupils were reminded of the 1 billion worldwide who go to bed hungry.

Pupils joined the school choir in a lively Samba Harvest song and heard of harvest customs all over the world.

Head teacher Fay Trussler, said: "The celebration of harvest is an important event in the rhythm of the rural community. Supporting the Haverhill Foodbank by our donation is an important reminder to our pupils of the value of community engagement." Chair of governors Grahame

Hepworth added: "Together with other schools in our partnership with Castle Manor Academy, we are prominent in the development of the next generation of adults in our community."

"Promoting the benefits of sharing and an appreciation of the needs of others are integral components of our ethos. Our pupils learn to appreciate the connections between environment and food supplies and to recognise their good fortune in having sufficient for their needs."

Business group to get updates

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

AN UPDATE on how two councils are sharing services to save money and how one is working up a vision document for development over the next 20 years will be given to a business group.

Ian Gallin, joint chief executive for St Edmundsbury Borough Council and Forest Heath District Council, who took up the new role in April, will be guest speaker at the bestofhaverhill meeting on Thursday, October 18 at Days Inn, Haverhill, from 10am to 11.30am. His visit continues the group's "wanting the best for Haverhill" theme.

Ian replaced the chief executives from Forest Heath District Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council and has overall responsibility for reducing the money spent by both councils by adopting a more cohesive approach to the provision of services.

He will talk about the current review of the services provided and how, where possible, services are being redesigned to better suit the requirements of local people, for example the Shared Planning Service.

The Vision 2031 project, which aims to create a community-led, shared vision for the next 20 years, will be a further topic for discussion.

Ian will provide an update on the initial consultation which took place in March/April, the progress made to date and the next steps in the process.

Elaine Carr, owner of thebestofhaverhill said: "We are delighted to welcome Ian to Haverhill as our guest speaker."

"The town is entering the next phase in its development and there are some huge issues on the horizon which need to be addressed in the medium and long-term plans for Haverhill."

"The delivery of services affects each and every one of us, as both residents and businesses, and I am sure that the local business community will be looking for assurances that service levels will not suffer as a result of budget cuts."

To attend this free event, call Elaine Carr on (01440) 710 158 or email Haverhill@thebestof.co.uk by Tuesday.

The event is open to any local organisations and you do not have to be a member of the bestofhaverhill to attend.

To find more about the group, visit www.thebestof.co.uk/haverhill.

Alexa's courage to step out naked on the stage

Plenty to smile about: for Alexa Hardy.

Picture: David Johnson 861795

Alexa Hardy stripped off for Calendar Girls and a fundraising calendar after fighting back from depression and the scars from years spent battling a rare and painful skin disorder. She says the whole experience in front of the crowd was 'so liberating'. Interview by ALICE RYAN.

STEPPING out on to the stage, Alexa Hardy felt a shiver of fear; as the curtain rose, her legs went to jelly. Playing a lead role in Calendar Girls – the play which famously sees all its female leads shed their clothes – she was about to appear nude in front of a packed house.

"I suffer horribly with nerves," admits the 31-year-old. "Just before the curtain went up, I thought I was actually going to fall over. But before I knew it, we'd been on stage for two-and-a-half hours – and we were getting a standing ovation. We all cried."

"It's an incredible play: the way it's written, what it's about... I think everyone who comes into contact with it is left feeling empowered. Once you've appeared naked in front of all those people, you can't help but feel liberated!"

The idea of stripping in front of a crowd would be nerve-racking for anyone. But for Alexa, who starred in the St Neots Players production last month, it took even more courage:

for more than half her life, she has suffered from a rare and extremely painful skin disorder – which has left her scarred by a dozen operations.

Called Hidradenitis Suppurativa, Alexa describes the condition as 'like a very extreme form of acne'. It causes infected lumps, akin to abscesses, to develop on the body. Some are quite small and gradually shrink and fade away. Others grow uncontrollably – until surgical intervention is the only option.

"I had one 10 years ago that nearly killed me," says Alexa. "It just kept getting bigger and deeper; in the end it was about 6cm in diameter. I had one lot of antibiotics, then another, and finally had to be rushed into hospital for an emergency operation: it was so infected, I was on the verge of septicaemia."

"I was in so much pain my mum had to lie me down on the back seat of the car, with one belt round my chest and another round my ankles, to take me to hospital. The operation left me with a hole an inch and a half deep; I ended up being off work for two-and-a-half months."

Alexa first developed the symptoms of Hidradenitis Suppurativa when she was in her mid-teens. At the time she was working towards a career as a professional singer.

"I first appeared on stage aged six, as Dorothy in The Wizard of Oz at school," laughs Alexa, who lives in Stretham. "I vividly remember hitting the girl who played the witch on the head with a bucket: it was filled with sparkly stuff that I was supposed to pour over her, but my aim wasn't brilliant... I loved the experience. After that I was hooked."

Alexa went on to do GCSE drama and a performing arts NVQ. Singing as often as she could, her talent was recognised by acclaimed producer Al West, who invited her to collaborate on an album.

But then, seven years ago now, Alexa decided to draw a line under her singing ambitions. "I was going to audition after audition. To make it in that business you have to look a certain way and, well, I didn't. I decided I had to be realistic. And, to be honest, it's not great for your self-esteem to keep going through that. In the end, the decision was really made for me – because I got a bit sick, and that made things more tricky."

Since her emergency surgery, Alexa has endured 11 further operations and has eight sets of scars. Her worst scar, from that first op, is 'a cross shape, with each line about as thick as your finger. It was really livid to start with, but it's faded a lot'.

It was in the wake of that first operation that Alexa's condition was diagnosed. The surgeons didn't excavate quite enough tissue and a pocket of infection remained, continually flaring up and causing the scar to rupture. Referred to an 'amazing' plastic surgeon, he was the one who suspected Hidradenitis Suppurativa.

"When I was diagnosed, it was described to me like extreme acne: I'd been getting these lumps – usually in the same area, on my legs and back – since I was about 15, and they are very painful: they make it hard to sit down, or stand up, or walk. . .

"I was told at the time that there's no real cure: I've got this thing forever. I didn't deal with the news all that well."

Alexa, who also suffers from halo migraines and polycystic ovaries (a condition which can cause fertility problems), admits she slid into depression.

"I was depressed for a good few years. I felt like I had no future. I was in a destructive relationship which I couldn't bring myself to leave because I thought nobody else would want me. I was scared I might not be able to have children. I had to keep having time off work for operations, so I thought I couldn't have a career."

"I thought 'If I can't have a relationship, and I can't have a career, I'm not sure what else there is' . . ."

To meet Alexa now – happy, confident, with a lovely new boyfriend and a great job (she's an engineering assistant at UK Power Networks, with numerous qualifications under her belt) – it's hard to believe she once saw her future as being so bleak.

Undergoing CBT (cognitive behavioural therapy) was, she says, key to helping her recover. "In that situation you have two choices: stay where you are, or change things for the better. I couldn't stay where I was – I was so miserable. So my only option was to change things: I ended the relationship, got a new job and made that my focus. It took a long time, until last year, really, but I did get better."

With her confidence on the rise, Alexa decided the time was right to return to performing. First came the Strettham village pantos, and then she heard the St Neots Players were auditioning for Calendar Girls – and were short on female actors.

Based on a true story, the play tells the heart-warming tale of a Yorkshire Women's Institute who – when one member loses her husband to cancer – decide to produce a nude calendar to raise cash for charity in his memory. Before it became a stage show, Calendar Girls was a hit film, starring Helen Mirren, Julie Walters and Penelope Wilton, who plays Ruth – Alexa's character.

In thrall to an abusive husband, she's a bit of a mouse, who finally comes out of her shell to take part in the calendar. "You've got to love Ruth," smiles Alexa, fondly. "I've been through some similar things, though I haven't dealt with them in the same way, so I have a lot of feeling for her."

Starting rehearsals back in April, Alexa says the whole cast had to get used to being naked in public fairly swiftly; as well as staging the play, they shot a nude calendar. Being sold in aid of Leukaemia and Lymphoma Research, the calendar was photographed by Peter Constable of St Neots – and features 12 lovely ladies in their birthday suits, with props strategically placed to preserve their modesty.

Alexa, 'Miss June', is pictured in the library of Hinchingsbrook House: "In the end, taking my clothes off wasn't that hard. I thought 'If I'm going to do this, I'm going to do it properly'. My boyfriend Sam came to the shoot, and he was so supportive."

The whole experience has, adds Alexa, been 'genuinely special'. "It's been a big part of my life for the last five months. If you've not got that call to be on stage, you won't understand – but just stepping out there, smelling the dust under the lights and hearing your foot fall on the boards, is indescribable. We had a standing ovation every night. And one night Beryl Bamforth – the real life 'Miss January' – came to see the show and she loved it."

"I've no idea what's going to happen in the future, but I don't think it's going to be horrible any more," concludes Alexa. "To be honest, I'm grateful I've got a future. I could have died from that lump 10 years ago. . .

"If it wasn't for my stubbornness, my family and friends, and some amazing medical people, I really don't think I'd be here. I owe it to all those people – and myself – to make something of my life."

School chosen as good cause to feel benefit

PUPILS at a primary school got a nice surprise when they received an unexpected cheque from a local petrol station store.

Head boy Harry Symons and head girls Macey Down and Joile West, all year 6 pupils aged 11 years at Coupals Primary School in Haverhill, were presented with the £739 cheque by Nadarajahya Sasikumar, manager of the Murco Costcutter shop in Sturmer Road.

A spokesman for the school said: "Coupals were extremely pleased and honoured to have been chosen.

"We will make sure the money is spent wisely on something that will benefit all the children."

The cash came from Making a Difference Locally (MADL), a charity scheme run nationally, created by Nisa Retail in conjunction with key suppliers.

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

It has been developed to make donations to charitable causes selected by participating retailers, who have the freedom to donate to any charity or 'good cause' in their local area.

Certain products sold in the store contribute a few pennies to the charity from each sale. Once a reasonable sum has been raised the retailer nominates his 'good cause'.

Mr Sasikumar said he chose Coupals County Primary School to be beneficiary of the money which his store raised because he believes that children are our future and they should be given every chance possible to obtain a good education. He thanked all customers for helping to raise this money for the children.

During another project pupils dressed up as their favourite characters to celebrate the birthday of children's author Roald Dahl.

For a week each class at Coupals Primary School in Haverhill had a different Roald Dahl book to read, from the Enormous Crocodile to Boy and Going Solo. The classes read the book and produced art work and writing activities.

A giant celebration was held on Dahl's birthday, with more than 200 children and staff dressed up for the day as either one of his characters from his book or in yellow Roald Dahl's favourite colour.

A spokesman for the school said: "We all had a great day and didn't mind being ordered around by Mrs Trunchbull [who won one of the prizes and is the horrid head mistress in Matilda] at all."

"It was a great way to celebrate a famous author and hopefully encourage children to read his books."

Couple look set to take centre stage

BY JO DEEKS

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A MARRIED couple treading the boards together for the first time will have a hoard of children to control as they take on starring roles in The Sound of Music.

Kelly Mephram and husband Adam are appearing in the Centre Stage company production at Haverhill Arts Centre from October 16-20 as Maria and Captain Von Trapp.

Two teams of children will be appearing alongside them as members of the Von Trapp family.

Kelly, formerly Kelly Leroy, has been appearing with the Haverhill group for the past 22 years, since she was a child.

She has taken a break from the stage over the past 5 years to care for her two young children Darcey, 4, and Henry, 2.

Adam has not appeared on stage since he was at school and has been unable to sing previously after having 14 operations on his throat over the past 10 years, to remove viral growths from his vocal chords.

Kelly said: "He has only just been told that he is in remission and he can now sing."

"He has a lovely singing voice and it will be lovely to perform together in the show."

"He has never done anything like this before, but always came along to support me."

"He is quite a military looking type, but he went along to the audition not really expecting to get the part at all."

"He is really pleased that he did and looking forward to it."

"It will be really nice to do something social like that together and I will be guaranteed a kiss on the stage every night."

The couple went along to the Arts Centre on Saturday with other members of the cast to receive a £300 donation from the town's Tesco store community fund towards the production.

'If you die, you feel more inclined to go for a Chinese'

The stage and screen favourite Timothy West tells JENNIFER SHELTON why he loves his annual potter around Cambridge – even if his current role is taking it out of him.

BORN to actor parents, married to a celebrated actress (Prunella Scales) and with a son (Samuel West) forging his own successful career on stage and screen, it's fair to say acting isn't just a job for Timothy West – it's a way of life.

Having triumphed in roles from King Lear to the King of England, the commanding RSC veteran's latest project sees him on stage as a Ukrainian odd-job man with a murky past in Ronald Harwood's The Handyman. It's his third trip to Cambridge in as many years, after astute performances in The Winslow Boy and Quartet (also by Harwood), and it's not entirely unexpected that he seems as much an expert on Cambridge as on anything else.

"I've been coming to the Arts Theatre probably since about 1960," he says warmly.

"I know the area very well and I'll certainly enjoy having a potter around.

What I won't do is bring the car – that's a mistake in Cambridge. But I've got very nice digs by Jesus Green and that's a nice walk... then if I want to go anywhere I'll get the bus."

At 77, far from being daunted, West is positively enthusiastic about the prospect of touring – something he suspects he might have inherited from his parents, Olive and Harry Lockwood West, who were touring actors for most of their lives.

"I enjoy coming into a recognisable community, which is difficult to achieve in London, where everybody's from all over the place," he says.

It's this sense of community that's integral to The Handyman; a story of quiet lives disrupted when it emerges that a close family friend has been accused of war crimes during the Holocaust.

"It's about what happens to a very settled community which has been chugging along quite nicely until suddenly something bad happens and splits them apart," explains West. "The handyman, which is me, has been working for these people for God knows how many years and is thought of as part of the family, but has been recently accused of war crimes."

"It's not about did he do it or didn't he, but about if he did do it, what are our justifiable attitudes to it. Have we got to punish him? Should we wipe the slate clean, or is that being disgracefully unfair to the people who died in the Holocaust?"

"It's a very exciting and fascinating play; it unearths the loyalties and prejudices of what you would think are reasonably predictable people."

Though there's humour in there too, it's no Noël Coward, and winding down after such an intense performance, West explains, can be tough.

"With some plays you finish and you think 'right, ok, I've got the rest of the evening, what shall we do?' But this play is quite exhausting, not just because I'm an old bugger but because a lot of the scenes are quite harrowing and that's strangely tiring."

"Some plays are just like that. Funnily enough if you die, you feel ok and more inclined to go and find a Chinese restaurant. But not with this one."

West is no stranger to roles of magnitude, having played Lear on three occasions: the first when he was only in his 30s and the most recent with English Touring Theatre in 2003. Still, he's no Shakespearean one-trick pony, with Prospero, Claudius, Enobarbus, Bolingbroke and Shylock also on his CV. I wonder about his favourite Shakespeare role – or will Lear always be the Holy Grail?

"I don't think there's anything that can touch Lear. I've done it three times now and every time I do I feel I'm a little bit closer to the top of an enormous mountain. Also, it's a play where one's attitude towards it changes every time depending on what's happening in the world and the people around you. It's a many-faceted play; you could think different thoughts every time you do it on practically every line."

And that's what keeps it interesting for audiences...

"Of course. You don't want to see the same old story every time, and clearly people don't because Shakespeare is being performed all over the world now more than ever."

Though he might land the roles of distinguished, perhaps a little weatherbeaten, patriarchs today (his Wikipedia page refers breezily to his 'craggy looks'), West's early training in rep theatre in the late 50s ensured a range of parts came his way.

"I did about 45 plays a year and they were all very different. It's wonderful training for an actor, to attack that many kinds of styles and manners, costumes and accents. That makes you enormously versatile – you have to be."

"Now, of course, it's rather the reverse, at least as far as television's concerned. They want you to be the same whatever you're in, and that's a shame."

ATRACTING record-breaking audiences last year, the Cambridge Classical Concert Series is clearly adored by local music lovers – and the 2012/13 line-up is shaping up as one of the strongest yet.

The series opens on Friday, October 26 with a visit from the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra. Talented young British conductor Oliver Gooch conducts an evening of masterpieces, beginning with Borodin's Prince Igor Overture, a feast of Russian dances and Oriental melodies.

The Russian flair continues with Rachmaninov's glorious Piano Concerto No. 3, a work brimming with passion, and a showcase for soloist Viv McLean's dazzling virtuosity. Sibelius's Symphony No. 5 is an extraordinary piece, culminating in a breathtaking finale.

As a bonus to concert goes on the night, young people from Cambridge have been working with the City Council's Children's and Young People's Participation Service and musicians from the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra's outreach team Resound to compose a brand new piece. Using a mixture of live and sampled music, the work will be performed by the young people themselves alongside RPO musicians on the Corn Exchange stage at the beginning of the concert.

The Prague Symphony Orchestra, which comes to Cambridge on Tuesday, November 13 is a leading Czech music ensemble with an outstanding international reputation. Conducted by Heiko Mathias Forster, one of the most compelling young conductors of his generation, the evening opens with Smetana's most popular work The Bartered Bride which pulses with rhythmic vitality. With its eloquent cadences and subtle complexities, Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 4 is one of the world's major piano concerti.

After a rendition of Janacek's lyrical Adagio, the evening ends with Dvorak's Symphony No. 8 which draws on the Bohemian folk music so beloved by the composer.

The Royal Philharmonic Orchestra returns on Thursday, January 24, when Fabien Gabel conducts an evening of Romantic masterpieces. The evening opens with Brahms's dramatic Tragic Overture. Soloist Janina Fialkowska is one of the world's finest interpreters of Chopin and Chopin's Piano Concerto No. 2 is the perfect vehicle to highlight her dazzling skills. Dramatic writing also takes centre stage in Beethoven's Symphony No. 6 ('The Pastoral'), with its turbulent storm movement complemented by music of sunny grace and rustic charm.

why when the orchestra does full justice to its lilting rhythms and dusky atmosphere.

When composer Eric Whitacre was a Visiting Fellow at Sidney Sussex College during autumn 2010, he was inspired to write the evocative and pastoral The River Cam while taking his daily walks alongside the river.

Lloyd Webber concludes the first half of this concert with an exquisite interpretation of the piece. Audiences will immediately recognise Barber's Adagio for Strings from the sound track to the Oscar nominated film Amélie and the evening draws to a close with a spirited performance of Schubert's lyrical Symphony No. 5.

The Moscow State Symphony Orchestra brings the series to a spectacular conclusion on Friday, May 17. Conducted by Pavel Kogan, the concert opens with Introduction and Three Miracles from Rimsky-Korsakov's exotic Tsar Sultan Suite. One of the brightest pianists to emerge from Russia in recent years, soloist Tatiana Kolesova performs Tchaikovsky's great Piano Concerto No. 1 with verve and brilliance. The concert, and indeed the series, concludes with Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 6 ('Pathétique'), filled with turbulent pathos and considered to be the composer's great swan song.

To help make the series as affordable to as many people as possible, the Corn Exchange is offering substantial discounts: people booking all six concerts in the series can save more than 20 per cent and people booking three, four or five concerts in the series can save more than 12.5 per cent.

FEVER PITCH, written by Nick Hornby and adapted for the stage by Paul Hodson, is a hugely successful play, digging deep into the mind of an obsessed football fan. This is Hornby's story of his Arsenal fixation, as well as a tale of family, football, class, identity and joy.

Harking back to the days when football was the people's game rather than the plaything of corporate sponsors and oligarchs, Fever Pitch is fast, funny, exhilarating theatre not just for football fans but for all.

The show kicks off at 7.30pm today. Suitable for ages 14 and over.

■ Centre Stage Company return with The Sound of Music from next Tuesday to Saturday, October 20 inclusive.

Two teams of local children plus a large cast and orchestra tell the story of Maria, sent from a convent to be a governess for Captain Von Trapp's seven children.

Kelly Mephram heads the cast in a role which she first played here 11 years ago. She has since starred in a string of musicals including Singin' In the Rain, My Fair Lady and West Side Story at Cambridge Corn Exchange.

This ultimate feel-good show features several members key to the company's success at this year's Haverhill Drama festival, including director David Hart, musical director Karen Chinery and choreographer Sue Webber.

The shows start at 7.30pm, with a matinee on the Saturday at 2.30pm. Tickets are going fast with only a few odd seats available for the weekend, call the box office on 01440 714140.

■ The next scheduled film is About Elly (12A) on Monday, October 22, at 7.45pm.

■ Dates for the diary include Maddy Prior in concert with Giles Lewin and Hannah James on Thursday, October 25, at 8pm; The Fire on Saturday, October 27, at 8pm; and LDN Wrestling, action from the top rope and beyond, on Monday, October 29, at 7.30pm.

The big film

Ruby Sparks

ART imitates life imitates art in this delightfully offbeat romantic comedy which ponders if the man or woman of your dreams is exactly that: a fantastical creation.

Directed by husband and wife Jonathan Dayton and Valerie Faris, who collected a mantelpiece of awards for Little Miss Sunshine, Ruby Sparks stars real-life couple Paul Dano and Zoe Kazan as lovebirds magically brought together by unseen forces.

They catalyse smouldering screen chemistry, surrounded by a strong ensemble cast including Antonio Banderas and Annette Bening as hippie parents, whose carefree attitude to life and love provides a template of perfection that other characters struggle to emulate.

Calvin Weir-Fields (Dano) wrote his first novel at the age of 19. It was embraced by critics as a modern masterpiece and he has coasted along on the adulation, unable to find the words for a follow-up or a girl who loves him, not his celebrity.

During a regular visit to psychiatrist Dr Rosenthal (Elliott Gould), Calvin confides that a beautiful girl is haunting his dreams and the shrink suggests it may be therapeutic to commit these nocturnal imaginings to paper. So to cure his writer's block, Calvin follows the doc's guidance and churns out volumes about the mystery girl.

Miraculously, Ruby (Kazan) manifests in Calvin's apartment.

"The situation is crazy, I am not," Calvin assures his incredulous brother, Harry (Chris Messina), demonstrating his control over Ruby by making her speak fluent French simply by adding a relevant sentence to his manuscript.

"For men everywhere, tell me you're not gonna let that go to waste," grins Harry, sensing the possibilities for moulding Ruby into the perfect, subservient partner.

She is blissfully unaware that she was once a figment of Calvin's feverish imagination, and as romantic bonds strengthen between the couple, Harry's initial enthusiasm mellows into fraternal concern.

Written by Kazan, Ruby Sparks conjures fond memories of Stranger Than Fiction as Calvin ponders the morality of bedding his literary creation.

The script ventures into darker territory when Calvin grows weary of his soulmate and spitefully puts her through the physical and emotional wringer using his typewriter. Thankfully, the film pulls back from the abyss at the last moment so we retain our sympathy and affection for the beleaguered hero.

Dano is endearing as the introverted scribe crippled by success and Kazan is luminous, staring wide-eyed into the camera with an irresistible twinkle in her eye.

Towards the end, Ruby speaks for us all when she smiles at Calvin and coos: "Just don't tell me how it ends, OK?"

OK, we won't.

Taking a turn for the exotic

URBAN gardener and TV presenter James Wong doesn't have a greenhouse, propagators or teams of gardeners, yet through obsessive trials in his own back garden he has managed to grow a range of exotic fruit and veg worthy of any Michelin-starred restaurant.

He laments that we've become stuck in a 1940s timewarp during the 'grow your own' revolution, barely moving beyond spuds, sprouts and swedes.

"We don't eat the same stuff we did two generations ago, so why on earth should we be stuck growing it?" asks the Kew-trained botanist, who has fronted such TV programmes as the BBC's Grow Your Own Drugs and Countryfile.

"Ironically, the biggest mistake people make is trying to grow exotic crops in greenhouses when they simply don't need to."

Wasabi, also known as Japanese horseradish, which is used as a fiery accompaniment to popular dishes including sushi, is easier to grow than watercress, he insists.

Wasabi plants can't stand the sunshine, but thrive in cool, wet, overcast settings, which makes them perfect for growing in this country.

Plant half a dozen small plants in a shady spot between early spring and early autumn, covering the area in a thick mulch of organic matter and place gravel around the plants to deter slugs and snails. Keep it in the shade in summer.

The edible part of wasabi is its partially buried stem, which takes up to two years to reach full size and flavour, but once you have an established clump, you'll have a succession of 'roots' for many years.

Harvest them when they reach around 10-15cm long – a third of this may be below ground – and grate them fresh at the table, because they will degrade within a few hours of being grated.

Wasabi works well in salad dressing and marinades for grilled chicken or fish, or whisked into mayonnaise. Currently plants are only available in a handful of mail order nurseries, but from next spring, Suttons will be supplying them. Wong has also managed to grow cocktail kiwi, a pint-sized, fuzz-free version of the original, which he says is easier to grow than apples and pears, along with asparagus peas, dahlia yams and callaloo, a Caribbean spinach, on his urban plot. All are detailed in his latest book, James Wong's Homegrown Revolution.

The Inca berry, or cape gooseberry, imported from Colombia to supply the fancy fruit sections of certain supermarkets, was commonly grown in this country in Victorian times, says Wong.

"The plants can be grown like tomatoes but are not susceptible to blight, are more drought tolerant and you don't need to prune or train them."

Plant them against a sunny, south-facing wall in well-drained soil and cover their roots with a thick layer of mulch.

In late summer and early autumn the plants will produce a heavy crop of brown papery lanterns which fall off when they are ripe. The shiny golden berries within taste good as they are or as an interesting ingredient in smoothies, salads and salsas and have up to a three-month shelf life. The seeds are widely available.

Among Wong's favourites exotics is the New Zealand yam, originally from Peru, which makes a much more interesting alternative to the potato. Producing edible shamrock-like leaves with a flavour of Bramley apples followed by knobbly 'potatoes' in a variety of colours, they are also blight resistant.

"You cook and eat them in exactly the same way as potatoes, or you can eat them raw as a crudite. In Mexico they dip them in sugar and chilli powder, which sounds awful but is really delicious," he enthuses.

Forming 30cm-high mounds, they make excellent ground cover under tall skinny crops such as sweetcorn or outdoor vine tomatoes.

They are grown like a regular spud, started off from seed tubers, increasingly available from specialist mail-order nurseries and from Thompson & Morgan. Plant them in small pots of compost on a sunny windowsill in late April.

They should soon spring up little shoots and will be ready to plant out in May after risk of frost has passed. They do best in rich, fertile soil packed with organic matter in full sun.

From July, earth up the rows to bury the trailing runners. They should be ready to harvest when the first frosts blacken their leaves in late November. Lift the tubers out of the ground carefully and hold a few back for planting in spring.

■ James Wong's Homegrown Revolution is published by Weidenfeld & Nicolson, priced £20. Available now.

Your Homesnow Guide to Moving Home

Moving home can be a complicated business and in the hectic run up to the big day it is all too easy to forget something vital. The Homesnow team offers their readers this handy checklist to help avoid any major pitfalls. We suggest you tick them off as you go....

www.homesnow.co.uk

1 4-2 WEEKS TO GO:

- ☐ Packing – start packing and sorting through your belongings. Now is a good time to de-clutter and pack items rarely used. Make sure you have plenty of sturdy boxes, bubble wrap and sticky tape.
- ☐ Removal companies – get estimates from removal companies, checking that comprehensive insurance cover is available against damage or loss. Is there a packing and unpacking service? Confirm the date of your move with the firm you have chosen.
- ☐ Insurance – check on your home contents insurance policies to ensure that you are covered for the move, and covered at your new address.
- ☐ Utilities – make arrangements for your gas and electricity meters (plus water meters where relevant) to be read and all your appliances to be disconnected on the day of your move. Arrange to take over gas and electricity at your new address, and make sure that all appliances will be properly fitted, plumbed or connected.
- ☐ Telecommunications – Notify your telephone and broadband provider and ask them to make the necessary arrangements for a final account at your present address, and for taking over or installing telephone and broadband facilities at your new home.
- ☐ Post – Look into re-directing your post for a few months to make sure you receive all relevant correspondence.
- ☐ Children – Look into the possibility of your children, especially young children, staying with family or friends on the day of the move.
- ☐ Pets – Make arrangements for any pets to be booked into a cattery or kennels if required. Having your pets microchipped is a good idea and if already microchipped, have the address changed to your new one. Your vet can advise on this.

Change of address – tell companies and organisations that you are moving!

Notify:

- ☐ Employer
- ☐ Inland revenue
- ☐ Local council
- ☐ Banks or Building Societies
- ☐ Credit companies, store cards & other accounts
- ☐ Gas, Electricity and water boards
- ☐ Insurance companies
- ☐ Land / mobile phones
- ☐ Internet and cable / satellite TV providers
- ☐ Doctor, Dentist and Opticians
- ☐ DVLA
- ☐ Veterinary surgery
- ☐ TV Licensing

1 WEEK TO GO:

- ☐ Delivery address – change delivery address of your Cambridge News, milk, groceries and fuel to your new address as appropriate.
- ☐ Laundry – do any last minute laundry that you can – have you arranged for a plumber to disconnect your washing machine correctly?

2-1 DAYS TO GO:

- ☐ Kitchen cupboards – go through your kitchen cupboards and throw out anything not in date. Also check that all jars and bottles are correctly sealed before packing.
- ☐ Fridges / Freezers – empty and clean out in preparation for moving. If you are moving a freezer and its contents, turn it up to maximum for a couple of days before you move.
- ☐ Valuables / documents – put these in safe place for moving day
- ☐ Packing – pack a bag for overnight essentials and toiletries and finish all remaining packing into boxes. Remember to label which room each box is destined for.
- ☐ Snack box – pack a box for the kitchen to include essentials like tea, coffee and sugar, as well as the kettle and mugs! Also include other snacks as necessary.
- ☐ Dismantle and disconnect – take down curtains, fixtures and fittings and disconnect white goods ready for transport.

Clio brio

Renault confirms prices

FOLLOWING the launch of the fourth generation Clio at the Paris Motor Show this month, Renault has confirmed key details for the new model, including pricing.

Here's the key facts:

- Range priced £10,595 to £16,095. New five-door only versions are priced between current 3- and 5-door. New Expression+ costs £230 less than today, with even more kit.
- Four trim levels: Expression, Expression+, Dynamique MediaNav and Dynamique S MediaNav. Core seller likely to be Dynamique MediaNav. New GT Line with TCe 120

EDC (Efficient Dual Clutch) to follow in 2013.

- New ECO versions in Expression+ and Dynamique MediaNav trim levels.

- Pricing for Clio Renaultsport 200 Turbo to be announced in February 2013, ahead of its launch in early summer.

- Standard equipment includes driver/passenger/side and curtain airbags, Bass Reflex speaker system, electric front windows and door mirrors, Bluetooth radio with USB port and jack socket, ESC (Electronic Stability Control) and ETC (Electronic Traction Control), folding front passenger seat, Hill Start Assist, keyless entry and ignition, 7-inch touchscreen MediaNav infotainment system with integrated navigation (Dynamique MediaNav and above).

- Wide range of new options from classes above, such as panoramic fixed glass sunroof, rear parking camera, R-Link system including apps. Extensive range of personalisation touches inside and out.

- Greater fuel economy, lesser emissions. Two new engines debut. 0.9 TCe 90 and 1.5 dCi 90 – plus 'ECO' variants of both. ECO variant of latter provides class-leading 88.3mpg and only 83g/km CO₂. TCe 90 in ECO guise offers impressive 65.7mpg and 99g/km CO₂.

- Stop&Start standard on TCe 90 and dCi 90. Driver activated ECO mode to improve fuel economy by between 10-15 per cent (standard on Dynamique MediaNav and above).

UK ordering for the New Clio opens November 1, with the showroom launch due on February 1, 2013.

Continental GT delight at Cambridge Bentley

CAMBRIDGE Bentley's special preview of the Continental GT Speed on Friday and Saturday went very well, with Le Mans star Guy Smith happy to talk customers through the benefits of the 205mph flagship.

The dealership's weekend started on Friday, when Smith arrived to help hand over the controls to those who had booked test drives in the stunning 6-litre, twin turbo, W12 new model – which isn't officially launched until November 15 at the Milton Road dealership.

The new GTS was also on display. "Bentley is going back into motorsport," added Millward. "The GT3 is an awesome car and it will be a halo for us because it just goes to show what Bentley can do."

Brand New Look for Mantles Kia Royston

Award winning Mantles Kia in Royston is now fully up and running following their recent refurbishment.

The dealership was runners up in Kia's national dealer excellence awards out of 180 dealers nationwide and has now been brought fully into the 21st century following the latest internal and external refurbishment, which reflects Kia's new innovative corporate image and identity. There is new striking red signage on the building and a new red totem sign lighting the way for all to see. Mantles also now have an exclusive area for Kia approved used cars where buyers can view nearly new approved Kia's that have market leading benefits such as 7 years warranty and even 0% finance on selected cars!

Mantles has also helped Kia record its best ever August, boasting an almost 25 per cent rise from the previous year. In the month of August Kia delivered 2,200 new vehicles taking their volume for the year to 41,291, up more than 23 per cent over 2011. August continued Kia's trend of breaking records in 2012 in the UK new car market. John Roberts, Dealer Principal, Mantles Kia said: "In what is generally regarded as a quiet month before the big September market this performance shows how Hertfordshire's motorists are continuing to turn to Kia and its range of stylish, top-quality cars. "We are committed in providing our customers with an outstanding experience; this is matched by Kia's engineers and design team under Peter Schreyer to put a remarkable range of vehicles in front of a demanding audience. The continued growth of the brand is clear evidence that local drivers' demands are being met!" he added.

Mantles Kia is also delighted to announce the arrival of the all-new Cee'd Sportswagon onto its forecourt. After the critical acclaim and customer interest that the five-door version has already generated since its launch in June, the stylish and flexible Sportswagon is expected to help Kia continue with its year of breaking records.

Moving inside you are greeted by a clean and tidy new six car showroom where you can view Kia's range of new cars. Centre stage is the new Cee'd 4 Tech with its innovation of features such as sat nav, leather, flex steer and the ability to park itself! The rest of the range is also available to view from the small city Picanto to the flagship Sorento four wheel drive. When buying your new Kia you can relax in our new luxury leather tub chairs at our sales desks while enjoying a tea or coffee from the new Café area. If your car is in for servicing and you are waiting why not relax in our new customer lounge and catch up with current affairs on the new digital TV or browse one of the variety of magazines on offer. If you're always on the go catch up on your e-mails by using Mantles free customer wi-fi or browse the web and enjoy learning about the new innovative features on Kia UK's Youtube channel! Street's a head boy in cup

Waveney Tigers 1 Kedington 2 (aet)
SUFFOLK COUNTY CUP, UNDER-15

KEDINGTON'S match in Lowestoft started at a ferocious pace and never slackened, but Kedington's back four of Aaron Thorne, Callum Dray, Lewis Head and Bailey Cassidy protected stand-in keeper Steve Boyles well.

After 20 minutes of attacking from both sides Kedington broke the deadlock when George Mustoe found Ty Alleyne in space, and Alleyne flipped the ball out wide for Ellis Wiffen to chase.

Wiffen's ball into the area was missed by the defence, allowing Kieran Harrison to side-step the keeper to score.

Waveney levelled before the break, and Kedington started the second half with a new goalkeeper, as captain Jason Moore took up position between the sticks.

Defences were on top throughout the second period, meaning the match went to extra time.

Kedington broke the deadlock when Cameron Larkin sent Conor Rankin sprinting down the wing after the ball, and he won a corner when his cross was blocked.

Leon Bailey whipped in the ball and Sam Street headed home.

Waveney mounted a sustained period of pressure for the rest of extra time, and Kedington were indebted to Moore for a fingertip save on to the bar to keep them in front.

Manager Neil Mustoe said: "This was a fantastic game of football between two very evenly balanced sides. I'm really proud of the spirit, determination and team-work shown by the lads."

Steeple Bumpstead Dynamos 7
Stretham Sporting 2
CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE, UNDER-14D

STEEPLE Bumpstead made it two wins out of three matches so far this term with a comfortable home victory over Stretham.

Dynamos started brightly, scoring early when Jamie Basham stuck a low shot from the right into the bottom left-hand corner of the net.

Sporting hit back, scoring two breakaway goals in quick succession, but by half time Steeple had regained the lead, James Conroy scoring with a near-post header from a corner and Archie Sadler finishing off a good passing move.

In the second half the Bumpstead defence got to grips with Stretham's quick forward line and prevented them adding to their score, while up front two goals from Joe Brown and one from Jake Peasgood kept the score ticking over.

But from some fine saves by the Stretham keeper the score could have been more, but Dynamos saved the best till last – a solo effort from Callum Smith, who cut in from the left wing and curled a shot around the keeper.

Witchford 9 West Wrating 2
CAMBRIDGE & DISTRICT COLTS LEAGUE, UNDER-13A

A DISASTROUS defensive display saw Wrating lose their 100 per cent start to the season at the hands of a clinical Witchford side.

A gifted goal in the opening minute set the scene for a torrid display from Wrating, who found themselves four goals behind in 11 minutes.

After a brief bright spell, Wrating capitulated, gifting goals to Witchford, who were clearly the hungrier side.

Despite equal possession, Witchford worked harder and were more often first to the ball, with their attack consistently beating the Wrating back four.

Wrating dug deep and a header from Joshua Santry brought a glimmer of hope but again they hit the self-destruct button by gifting Witchford their fifth before half time.

The mountain to climb was made steeper when Witchford scored their sixth early in the second half. Ronnie Ledwith scored Wrating's second but it was too little too late as heads went down and Witchford added to their tally.

FINLEY Plant scored a hat-trick and Jack Lisher added two as Wrating enjoyed a comfortable victory at Cottenham.

Woodgate try bonus

Woodbridge 46 Haverhill 7
UNDER-15

HAVERHILL, in their first full fixture together, struggled a little and lacked cohesion, and Woodbridge soon began to look comfortable and ran in several scores.

As the half progressed, captain Dan Crawshaw led by example with some strong rucking and tackling, which lifted the team. Gradually, as confidence increased, the visitors looked good playing through the phases.

Haverhill started the second half much better. Mitchell Forshaw demonstrated his tackling prowess time after time and Dan French, new to the second row, grew in confidence and started to ruck well.

Haverhill's best move of the match resulted in their only score, some great running by Lester Cuasay, off-loading by Brad Call and strong rucking by French, resulted in Josh Woodgate collecting the ball and running in for the score from 15 metres. Crawshaw added the conversion.

Although Woodbridge ran out the victors, Haverhill were never disgraced and showed commitment throughout.

Mature attitudes from James Carr and Charlie Blick, typified the spirit of the players, and man of the match was shared by Forshaw and Charlie Brown.

Mistley 37 Haverhill 13
EASTERN COUNTIES LEAGUE, DIVISION TWO

HAVERHILL travelled to Mistley hoping to recover from their narrow defeat by Norfolk Medics the previous week, but it was not to be.

They met a physically larger team and Haverhill, with a number of absences due to injury and non-availability were never quite able to stand up to the size, weight and aggression of the home team.

From the kick-off they found themselves on the back foot, defending against probing, well supported runs and despite some heroic tackling Mistley forced their way over after seven minutes for an unconverted try.

From the restart Haverhill repeatedly attempted to attack and had their best period of the game.

Haverhill lose a physical battle

Strong defensive work by man-of-the-match Kieron McDonagh stalled a Mistley breakout and, ripping the ball from his opposite number, he passed to captain Adam Hunt. He found his way blocked, but chipped ahead and won a close race to the ball and touched down to level the scores.

Another attack was launched from deep and Kieron Ewens and Hunt combined to carry the ball to the Mistley 10m line before they were pulled down and a penalty in the ensuing ruck was converted by Ewens for a lead of 8-5.

The game then settled into a pattern of Mistley attack and Haverhill defence. The Haverhill scrum, vastly outweighed, held their own in the set-pieces although any ball won was not allowed to flow as the home loose forwards had scant regard for the binding laws and smothered the Haverhill half-backs.

The line-outs were a different story with Haverhill losing most of the ball to the taller opposition. Two more tries, one converted, were scored by Mistley before half time and the teams turned at 17-8.

The second half saw more of the same with everyone in the mistley side running forward with the ball at every opportunity and using any means to retain possession in the loose.

The referee had to pick them up on a number of occasions for foul play and talking back but, despite their indiscipline a further three tries were scored to give them an unassailable 34-8 lead.

With 10 minutes to go Simon Potter went over in the corner from a rare Haverhill line-out win, but the conversion bounced off the post.

The referee eventually sent off the most persistent law-breaker on the Mistley side but it was too late to make any real difference to the game, which Mistley won 37-13 after converting a penalty attempt.

Haverhill will have to up their game by November when Mistley come to Castle Fields for the Suffolk Shield semi-final.

Bareham is extra special in final

CLUB champion Dave Quinney took on the winner of the four previous club championships, Andy Bareham, in a nailbiting final of Haverhill Golf Club's summer scratch matchplay competition, the Signpost Paints Cup.

Quinney, who plays off scratch, got off to a fast start, going two up, but three-handicapper Bareham managed to get the match back to all square by the ninth.

The score remained level until Quinney won the 17th, only for Bareham (right) to square the match again by birdying the last. He then repeated the feat with a birdie on the first extra hole to claim victory.

■ The Ladies Midweek Medal saw Pat Wellstead continue her recent good form to win by four shots with an excellent round of 101-33-68, reducing her handicap by two shots to 31.

Sally Price was second with 97-25-72 and Sharon Parsonson third with 109-34-75.

■ Mary Sail was the runaway winner of the Ladies Saturday Medal with a commendable round of 89-16-73, ahead of Theresa Spittle (110-29-81) and Pauline Calmet (106-16-82).

■ Haverhill hosted a mixed match against Menzies in excellent conditions on Sunday, with all the matches decided on either the 17th or 18th. The visitors however, just had the edge to win overall 5½-4½.

It's cup penalty pain for Rovers

On target: Owen Longley scored HSA's goal on Saturday.

Leiston 3 Haverhill Rov 3

SUFFOLK SENIOR CUP, FIRST ROUND

HAVERHILL Rovers were beaten in the first round on Tuesday night, going out 5-4 on penalties to Leiston after a 3-3 draw.

Despite taking the lead through Jack Higgs after less than half a minute, Rovers then fell behind as Gareth Heath and Emmanuel Osei found the net for the hosts.

A Stuart Boardley own goal brought the Reds back to 2-2 just before half time.

Leiston were back in front after 70 minutes before another own goal, this time by David Head, made the tie 3-3.

Extra time could not find a winner, and eventually Rovers were knocked out on spot kicks as Marc Abbott and Ben Bradley had their penalties saved.

■ Haverhill suffered a 3-2 loss at Gorleston in the Thurlow Nunn League Premier Division on Saturday as two late goals cost them dear. Rovers took the lead early in the first half when Higgs opened the scoring, but Gorleston equalised just before half time.

Abbott restored Rovers' lead in the 55th minute when he converted a penalty and the visitors held on to their lead until late on when two quick goals gave Gorleston victory.

"It was disappointing to lose, especially after being 2-1 up," said Rovers boss Peter Betts.

"We gave a good performance so I can't grumble too much."

HSA 1 Corton 4
SUFFOLK SENIOR CUP, FIRST ROUND

HSA suffered their first defeat of the season on Saturday when Anglian Combination League Corton comprehensively dumped them out of the Suffolk Senior Cup.

From the kick-off Corton looked the likelier winners as they were first to every loose ball and dominated aerially.

Anthony Choat pulled off a couple of good saves to keep HSA level and the home team were denied a possible penalty when an on-target shot hit an opponent's hand, but it was no surprise when Corton opened the scoring in the 28th minute, squeezing the ball over the line.

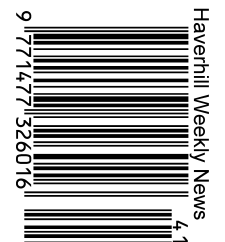

Two minutes later the lead was extended, Corton breaking quickly from an HSA corner and a cross being headed home, and things got worse just before half time when a defensive error allowed Corton a simple third.

HSA looked as though they could be in for a hiding when Corton added a fourth just after half time. However, they kept going, with Cody Frazier hitting the bar and Craig Cutts going close.

They finally got a goal back with 20 minutes to play when Owen Longley's dangerous ball was turned into his own net by an away defender.

But that was all they could muster, and they will now look to bounce back in the FA Vase match against Ipswich Wanderers on Sunday.
